

Testimonial - working with Guildford Spectrum

ST*R Learning spent time getting to know our organisation and our culture and designed tailored management training that fully met our objectives.

Their development work was delivered at our venue at a time that suited our people and the interactive workshops made a positive impact on the performance of all who attended. Staff who attended the workshops reported that they found them stimulating, enjoyable and of relevance to the workplace.

The investment we made from our training budget showed a very good return in terms of changes in behaviour. ST*R Learning's work also contributed to our high ratings in QUEST in 2007 as well as setting a foundation for continuous improvement based on a Personal Performance Development and Appraisal Scheme that has been in use since 2005 and is still relevant and in use today.

ST*R Learning were responsive to our needs and were very reliable and efficient to work with. Their style is very honest and open and they demonstrate a genuine interest in the development of the individuals and the success that this can have on a business. I would recommend them without hesitation.
